

THE 2023 FAC JOHN W. GRIFFIN STUDENT AWARD

Application Guidelines

The Florida Archaeological Council (FAC), Florida's only professional archaeological organization, announces the 2023 competition for graduate student research awards of up to $3,000. These funds may be awarded to a single individual or divided among several applicants. The award thus typically assists one or more graduate students conducting archaeological research in Florida. It can be used to cover costs associated with archaeological fieldwork and/or specialized analyses (e.g., radiocarbon dates, faunal and/or botanical analyses, soils analysis, isotope analysis, etc.). In rare cases, funds may be awarded for travel expenses associated with presenting a paper/poster on the student's research at a professional meeting. The FAC John W. Griffin Award will also include a year's membership in the FAC. Awardees are encouraged to present their results at a subsequent Florida Anthropological Society meeting.

Applicants must be eligible for membership in the FAC (please see, <https://flarchcouncil.org/new-membership>.) Students interested in applying for the award should submit a proposal not to exceed 1000 words that describes the project for which the funds are being requested; what research question(s) or problem(s) are being addressed; how the funds will be applied to their research; what, if any, additional funds will be used to accomplish the research, and; how the research will contribute to Florida archaeology. Prospective applicants are strongly encouraged to inquire about the suitability of their proposal topic with the award committee chair, as indicated below.

The completed application must include: the full proposal with its budget, sponsorship letter(s) from an FAC member(s) in good standing, and any additional support letter(s).

Applications for the 2023 FAC John W. Griffin Student Award are now being accepted and may be mailed or emailed to:

Dr. Lee A. Newsom
c/o UF Governor's House Cultural Center & Museum
48 King Street
St. Augustine, Florida 32084

Electronic mail: lee.a.newsom@gmail.com

Application Deadline is Friday 14 April 2023